the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 1999). The prevalence of mental health problems in the UK is estimated to be 10% (Mental Health Foundation 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of people with mental health problems in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has set out a vision for mental health care in the UK, which is based on the principles of recovery, empowerment, and social inclusion. The vision is to ensure that people with mental health problems are able to live full and meaningful lives, and that they are able to participate in the community. The vision is to ensure that people with mental health problems are able to access the services and support that they need, and that they are able to make choices about their own lives.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 1999). The prevalence of mental health problems has increased in all age groups, but the increase has been most marked in the young (Mental Health Foundation 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the mental health needs of young people (Mental Health Foundation 1999). The National Institute for Mental Health (NIMH) in the USA has estimated that 10% of the population under the age of 18 has a mental health problem (NIMH 1999). In the UK, the prevalence of mental health problems in young people is estimated to be 10% (Mental Health Foundation 1999). The prevalence of mental health problems in young people is increasing, and this is a cause for concern. The Mental Health Foundation (1999) has estimated that the prevalence of mental health problems in young people will increase by 50% by the year 2010.

The Chalk Guy

Sam Glenn presenting his work of art. Which path will you take?

Uh oh, I think he's pointing out someone not paying attention.

Sam Glenn loves his dinosaur.

During second semester last year, Renaissance brought us Sam Glenn, The Chalk Guy. Armed with chalk, an empty canvas and a life like dinosaur puppet, he came and shared a bit of himself with us. Most of us were just happy to be out of class, but somehow Sam caught our attention and even made us laugh. Combining his art with a raw and real outlook on life, he helped to teach us that life isn't always about having everything figured out, but about enjoying every second and making the best of it all. He reminded us "Don't Get Stuck on Stupid." We learned from The Chalk Guy and thanks to Renaissance and the administration who made it possible.

12. Erin Beck looks excited to graduate.

Graduation is an event everyone remembers and for the class of 2009 that was the case. The Friday night ceremony on May 15th started before 7:00 p.m. because of reports about severe thunderstorms. While speeches were being delivered, the skies grew with darkness and the inclement weather forced an evacuation sending the graduates to the cafeteria.

On Saturday morning a decision was made to continue the graduation ceremonies on Saturday night in the main gymnasium. To accommodate all the guests, students with last names A-L graduated at 7:00 p.m. and students M-Z graduated at 8:00 p.m. Even though everyone was not able to graduate together in one ceremony, they did in fact have a graduation they will always remember.

13. Kelsey Grillion and Jessica Mitchell meet for a photo in between the 7 o'clock and 8 o'clock graduation ceremonies.

14. Layla Zubi adjusting her cap at the outdoor ceremony on Friday.

15. Some of the 2009 Jones clan and graduates of the 7 o'clock commencement: Matt Jones, Ray Jones, and Brandi Jones.

16. Graduates with last names M-Z throw their caps at the 8 o'clock ceremony.

17. The Class of 2009 anxiously waiting for further instructions in the cafeteria due to the cancellation of the outdoor graduation ceremony.

18. Kaitlin Dohnel is glad her four years of high school are finally completed.

19. Lucas Geisler is ready to move his tassel to the other side.

20. President of the School Board, Ralph Burnett, gives a shortened speech as the sky darkens and the thunderstorms get closer.

21. Katie Guenther looking happy and successful.

22. Kyle Robertson and Ryan Schooley congratulate each other.

Powderpuff

The Powder Puff game is not your normal homecoming football game. Although the game doesn't change much, the competition is still fierce, and the cheerleaders are still filled with school spirit. The fans in the stands come for more than your average Friday night football game. The senior girls versus the junior girls for a year's worth of bragging rights, while the boys cheer them on! This year, both senior and junior powder puff football teams fought hard to kick off homecoming week. The teams went into overtime with two touchdowns a piece, Rachel Meyer and Elisha James scored for the seniors and Natalie Crane and Vernicia Baker each scored one for the juniors. Junior, Ashley Deekard and senior Rachel Meyer scored touchdowns to keep the score tied in overtime. In double overtime, each team sent their kickers to the line for a showdown. Natalie Crane, Emily Geisler, and Hallel Robertson went up against Laura Lofink, Carleigh Blankmeyer, and Ann Wojtowicz. In the second round of kicks, the Juniors got the win! Emily Geisler was named Most Valuable Player of the game. While the girls tore up the field, the guys showed off their cheerleading and dance moves on the sidelines and during half-time. The boys were also entered into a contest for the sexiest legs. Tom Schildman was the winner for the seniors, and Brandon Harris took the win for the juniors. Anyone who went to the powder puff game during homecoming week of 2009 was sure to have had a great time. It was a perfect blend of comedy, and nail biting action.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Matthew in front of the Vatican in Rome

Matthew Von Nida

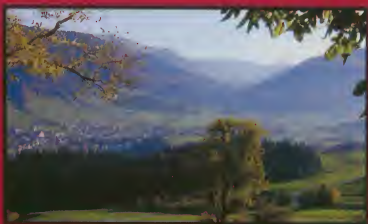

Right now, I am living in a completely new world. Italy is such a new and different place for a kid from the United States. I live in an apartment in a small city named Olbia on the island of Sardinia. I go to school from Monday through Saturday, but only 6 hours. The culture is so different. I spend my friends with two kisses on each cheek starting with the right. The teachers are never on time. School starts at 8:15 but the teacher doesn't even get to the classroom until 8:30. Life is so relaxed here. Take your time, and have fun.

When I first walked into school, I was the most excited thing. The classmates asked all of these questions about things from American films. They were especially amazed with lockers. Now, the excitement has gone down some. I have lived here for a month, and I am picking up on the language. I actually have conversations. I am going to the pizzeria with friends and to hang out. The house is also fun. I spend much time with family, with eating every meal together as a family. The Italians also eat very well. I have almost every lunch and dinner, four courses. They start with pasta, then a meat dish. Then salad then fruit. And sometimes after that, gelato or dessert.

It feels like spring here, the weather of February in Olbia, is like April or May in the States without the rain everyday. I love the life style here. Public transportation is everywhere, and everyone really likes it. I just know what else to say... it is absolutely gorgeous here. I've been beaches and mountains, and anything I could ask for. I can go to the beach, hang out with my friends on the weekend. Last night I went to the pizzeria with some friends and my history teacher and we ate pizza. I really miss all of my friends. It is so hard because it is nearly impossible to communicate with anyone. There is a 7 hour time difference. My main life between the United States and here is Facebook, but the internet here is very unreliable.

Christa Alessandri

Village of Schilphelm, Switzerland

Christa visits the Navy Pier in Chicago

Ever since Christa Alessandri was in sixth grade she would often dream of traveling and learning about other cultures. Needless to say this dream came true when she was given the opportunity to become a foreign exchange student at her high school for a full year.

Christa values her culture and traditions, and also believes that by learning about others we can learn more about ourselves. She is a person full of passion and a drive to make everything she experiences in life very fun. Though she is very brave and eager to experience new things, she also admits that the first day of school was definitely a shocking one to say the least. Christa explained that it was scary and her most feared was that of being lonely. She was overwhelmed by the size of the school buildings she moved from the Village of Schilphelm, a small community with only two hundred people, to a school with over 1,000 students.

Though it was hard at first Christa has fallen right into the flow of things and has even started to like it here, although she missed the view of Palmyra. Her home is much different than here, but she has come to appreciate the differences of both and could not break the experience here for anything. If we see anything from Christa being here it should be that we should be the culture keep us from experiencing things that the world has to offer. We also remember to not look at everything as being different, at the other personality, their experiences, culture, and traditions that they only wish there is everything are should be thinking that it is something we should be learning to teach about the world.

Empathy is the act of intellectually identifying with or vicariously experiencing the thoughts, feelings, or attitudes of another. Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS) is a program solely dedicated to the principle of living and relating to others. BBBS is a student based and selective program sponsored by Ms. Johnson and Ms. Rials in the Guidance Department. The students selected their sophomore year are then required to complete an application, followed by an interview with an official from the BBBS foundation.

Once these steps are completed the selected students receive word from the foundations official as to whether or not they are accepted into the program, which begins their junior year and continues through their senior year. The accepted students are then assigned a "little", which is an active student at Coolidge, that they spend an hour with once a week. The BBBS program is a rewarding and enriching experience both for the selected student, the "big", and their assigned "little." Though it is a process to become a part of the program, it is well worth the effort to know you made a difference in another person's life and were able to set aside your own selfish needs and desires and put those of another ahead of yourself.

Granite City Community Unit School District #9

Our District is committed to providing a safe learning environment, which enables all students to develop intellectually, physically, morally, and emotionally to the very best of their abilities. This learning environment must offer students the opportunity to practice and adapt the principles, values, and ideals which will help them to become self-sufficient and effective citizens in today's democratic society. Our goal is to promote learning as a life-long process.

you are graduating high school
as a beautiful young lady.
I am so proud of you.
Love mom

KIRA LONG

Kira,
We have been proud of you since you tumbled into our lives. Remember to always shoot for the moon, even if you miss it you will still be amongst the stars. Continue following your dream, only you can make them come true.

Love you bunches!!
Dad, Mom, & Kati

Stephanie Ann Bargiel

You make us so proud
and we love you very much
Mom and Dad

Kayla Ulrich

Kayla,
You have brought great joy to our life.
You possess many wonderful qualities;
we know you will use them to be successful throughout life's journey.
You are a beautiful person both inside and out.
We Love You,
Mom and Dad

Melissa Rae McKee

If you believe, than you can achieve. You made the grades, and showed you can succeed. You're graduating with the class of 2010. Your life as an adult is now going to begin. Your high school years, you will miss. So, we await you.

Love you always,
Dad, Mom and Abby

Sarah Belk

Sarah,
We are extremely proud of
you. Remember the words of Dr. Seuss. The more that you read, the more things you will know. The more that you learn, the more places you will go.

Love, Mom and Kevin

Kayla Morelan

Kayla,
You have the ability and talent to do anything you want in this world. Follow your passion and dreams and make it happen. We believe in you and we are always there for you.

Love Always, Mom and Alicia

Rachel Beasley

Rachel,
We are very proud of you. You have grown into a beautiful young lady. You can achieve anything you want, just go for it!
Love,
Mom & Dad

Matthew Barton

To our little buddy,
We are so proud of the person you have become. We admire your sense of humor and fun loving attitude. Follow your dreams and strive to meet your goals. Always try to live, love, and laugh often.

We will always love you forever.
Mom, Dad and Rachael

Taylor Tommie Watson

Congrats Taylor,
You are the Centre of our home.
May God Bless you in every season.

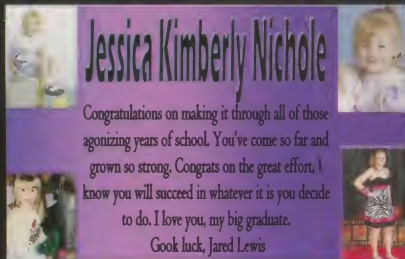

Happy Graduation 2011!
Thank God for our son and daughter.
We love you very much.
We pray you find the company of all hearts, love, and direction.
Thank you for all the love and support of all your relatives.

Jessica Kimberly Nichole

Congratulations on making it through all of those agonizing years of school. You've come so far and grown so strong. Congrats on the great effort, I know you will succeed in whatever it is you decide to do. I love you, my big graduate.

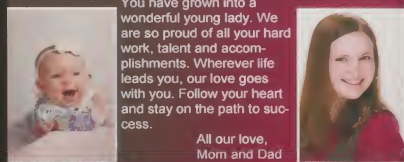

Good luck, Jared Lewis

Jacquelyn Rogers

Time has gone too fast.
You have grown into a wonderful young lady. We are so proud of all your hard work, talent and accomplishments. Wherever life leads you, our love goes with you. Follow your heart and stay on the path to success.

All our love,
Mom and Dad

Billie Jo Schooley

But seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and his righteousness:
and all these things shall be added unto you. Discern with wisdom, knowledge and I know you will succeed.
With all of our love, always, you make us so proud!
Your Entire Family!

Taylor Bauer

Our little girl has grown into a beautiful young lady.
We are so proud of you.
All our love always
Mom and Dad

Class of 2010

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.1 million (Office of National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 85 and over has increased by 0.5 million.

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for ageing, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people.

The strategy is based on the following principles: (1) older people should be able to live independently for as long as possible; (2) older people should be able to participate in the life of their community; (3) older people should be able to live in the place of their choice; (4) older people should be able to live with dignity and respect.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including: (1) to improve the health and well-being of older people; (2) to improve the social and economic participation of older people; (3) to improve the housing and living conditions of older people; (4) to improve the care and support of older people.

The strategy is a key document for the development of services for older people. It provides a framework for the development of services and sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 15.5 million by 2020, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 8.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop strategies to meet the needs of older people, and to ensure that they are able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the development of age-friendly communities, and the establishment of age-friendly networks.

Age-friendly communities are communities that are designed to be accessible and inclusive for older people. They are communities that offer a range of services and facilities that meet the needs of older people, and that encourage them to participate in community life.

Age-friendly networks are networks of organizations and individuals that work together to promote the well-being of older people. They provide a range of services and support, and they encourage older people to participate in community life.

The development of age-friendly communities and age-friendly networks is a key priority for many governments and organizations. It is essential that we develop strategies to meet the needs of older people, and to ensure that they are able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible.

There are a number of factors that can contribute to the development of age-friendly communities and age-friendly networks. These include the availability of services and facilities, the accessibility of the built environment, and the social and cultural climate of the community.

It is essential that we take a holistic approach to the development of age-friendly communities and age-friendly networks. We need to consider the needs of older people in all aspects of community life, and we need to ensure that they are able to participate fully in all aspects of community life.

There are a number of ways in which we can promote the development of age-friendly communities and age-friendly networks. These include the provision of services and facilities, the improvement of the built environment, and the promotion of social and cultural activities.

It is essential that we work together to develop strategies to meet the needs of older people, and to ensure that they are able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible. We need to develop age-friendly communities and age-friendly networks that are accessible and inclusive for all older people.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.2 million (Office of National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 7.5 million by 2026, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 5.5 million (Office of National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health care needs of older people, and the need to ensure that health care services are accessible and appropriate for older people. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and care of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible.
- Older people should be able to access the health and care services they need when and where they need them.
- Older people should be able to participate in decisions about their health and care.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including:

- To reduce the number of older people who are in long-term care.
- To improve the quality of care for older people in long-term care.
- To improve the health and care of older people in the community.
- To improve the health and care of older people in the workplace.

The strategy is a key document in the development of health and care services for older people, and it provides a framework for the development of policies and practices in this area.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1998. The public sector has grown from 10% of the economy to 15% of the economy.

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of competition, the restructuring of public services, and the introduction of new management practices. These initiatives have led to a number of changes in the way that public services are delivered, and have led to a number of improvements in the efficiency of the public sector.

One of the main reasons for the growth of the public sector is the increasing demand for public services. This is due to a number of factors, including the ageing population, the increasing demand for health care, and the increasing demand for social services. The public sector has been able to meet this demand by increasing its resources and by improving its efficiency.
